GARDEN CLUB TAKES OVER TRIPP STORE

Relic of Pioneer Days in Woodside To Be Leased By Flower Club For Headquarters and For Library Room; Also For Display Room

The Woodside - Atherton Garden Club has leased the old Tripp store at Woodside for headquarters. The office of the old building will be renovated, and will be used as a library, where gardening books and horticultural magazines will be kept for the use of the community. The store proper will be fitted up for the sale of seedlings, flowers, fruits and vegetables, which will be donated to the club.

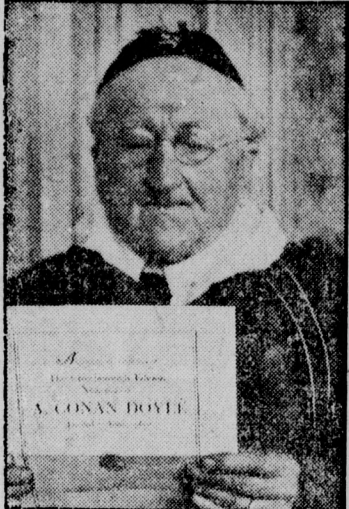

A great deal of community interest is centered about the old Tripp store. It was the first store in the county, in fact, the first store between San Francisco and Santa Clara, and was built by Dr. Tripp of local native redwood. The old building was the center of life in the early days of the county and was the meeting place where thousands of lumberjacks from the mills of the vicinity used to congregate. From it they received their mail, clothing provisions and large quantities of liquid refreshments.

The old building was used as a headquarters for Dr. Tripp, who in addition to his extensive mercantile business at Woodside, shipped lumber from Woodside down to Redwood City, where it was loaded on large sailing ships and sent to San Francisco. Many of the old time mansions of San Francisco were built of redwood lumber from this vicinity.

Dr. Tripp, a dentist, came to California for his health, and settled in the practically unsettled country which now forms San Mateo county. He came to California when 50 years of age, and remained in Woodside until his death at the age of 92. His store is practically the only relic remaining to Woodside of that pioneer stage in the village's life.

Awaits Spirit

Confident that the spirit of A. Conan Doyle will visit him in his flat in San Francisco, the Right Rev. Sir Mazziniananda, 105-year-old Buddhist priest, is ready for the appearance of the famous writer's spirit. He is a friend of the creator of Sherlock Holmes. He is seen above studying Conan Doyle's history, presented to him by Doyle on recent visit to San Francisco.

With a large grandstand and arena practically completed, a notable entry list and the assurance of Mayor James Rolph, Jr.'s attendance, the Redwood City Rodeo on Sunday, July 27, is rapidly assuming the aspect of a spectacular event.

He will be escorted to the rodeo field by a mounted delegation, and Mayor D. R. Stafford and other city officials.

The new grandstands will accommodate three thousand spectators. Three large corals and a wide quarter-mile track have also been laid out by the construction crew.

A "Queen of the Rodeo" will be selected from among the members of the local Young Ladies' Institute. The Queen will head the rodeo parade and rule over the day's festivities.

Rodeo headquarters have been opened at 255 Main street.

Judge Shurtleff On Committee for Riley Campaign

Menlo Park Man Appointed Northern Chairman For State Controller

Judge Charles A. Shurtleff, former associate justice of the State Supreme Court, this week accepted the position of chairman of the northern California Campaign Committee which is sponsoring the candidacy of Ray L. Riley (incumbent) for state controller.

Judge Shurtleff, who is a resident of Menlo Park, and a member of the board of trustees of the Sequoia Union High School district, sent the following letter to A. W. Bouillet, well-known tax attorney of San Francisco, accepting the appointment:

Dear Mr. Bouillet: I gladly accept the invitation of you and your associates to act as Chairman of the Ray L. Riley Northern California Campaign Committee, and assure you that I thoroughly appreciate the honor you have conferred upon me in asking me to act in that capacity. The faithful and efficient services of Mr. Riley should, and I am sure will, be endorsed by the people of California.

While it is true that Mr. Riley's re-election would be a compliment to himself, the chief benefit and gain flowing from his retention would be to the State of California and its citizens.

Yours sincerely,

(Signed) CHARLES A. SHURTLEFF

SERVICES HELD FOR HENRY STEINBERGER

Remains of Prominent Citizen Laid To Rest After Services Are Conducted by Redwood City Masonic Lodge Thursday Morning

Funeral services were held yesterday at the parlors of the James Crowe Company for Henry Steinberger, who passed away suddenly last Tuesday while attending to his work as manager of the S. H. Frank tannery here.

The services were conducted under the auspices of Redwood City Lodge F. & A. M. by Eastland Britton, worshipful master of the lodge. The impressive Masonic ritual was ably presented.

The parlors of the undertaking company were filled to capacity by friends and relatives of the departed and so large was the "concourse" of friends that many were unable to gain entrance to the room. The large number of floral pieces which banked the casket were testimony of the high esteem in which Mr. Steinberger was held among the people of Redwood City.

Following the services at the undertaking parlor the body was taken to Cypress Lawn where services were held by Cantor Benjamin Leiberman of Temple Israel. Entombment followed in the Cypress columbarium.

Henry Steinberger was one of Redwood City's most public-spirited citizens, he had devoted a large part of his time to work of the Redwood City schools, he had been clerk of the board of trustees for the past 27 years. He was one of the charter members of the Redwood City Kiwanis Club, and one of its most active members. He was also a member of Redwood City Lodge No. 168, F. & A. M., of Bay View Lodge of Odd Fellows, of Olive Branch Rebekah Lodge, and of Metamora Tribe of the Improved Order of Redmen.

Members of the Redwood City Kiwanis club attended the services as a body, as did also members of the Masonic lodge.

Six close friends of the deceased acted as pall bearers. They were John Poole, Dan Flynn, Otis M. Carrington, Henry Beeger, and C. M. Dossie. Other friends who acted as honorary pall bearers were A. D. Walsh, Herman Schaberg, Carl Beeger, and Frank Marcus.

Mr. Steinberger is survived by his wife, Mrs. Carrie Steinberger, by one daughter, Mrs. John Cooke of Los Angeles; two sisters, Mrs. Louis Hexner of this city, and Miss Henrietta Steinberger of Bavaria, Germany. A brother, Herman Steinberger, passed away three years ago in New York. He also leaves a granddaughter, Marian Cooke and four nephews, Harold Hexner, Harold, Tom and Charles Steinberger, and one niece, Mrs. Fred Lamb of this city.

Rolph Campaign Under Way Here

The executive committee of the Rolph campaign in the county had a dinner Tuesday evening in Russell Cafe at Burlingame. Those present were J. J. Sharon, D. E. O'Keefe, W. H. Weeden, W. H. Taylor, Asa Hull, Mark Ryan, Dante Diande, Thomas Broderick, Edward Knisley and Mr. O'Connell.

J. J. Sharon was elected chairman of the committee and campaign manager for the county. Sharon is a good organizer and a clever politician and is just the man to wage a stiff campaign for the mayor. At this meeting an outline of the campaign was made. General headquarters were established at 231 Third avenue, San Mateo, where a secretary will be in charge at all times to answer questions and distribute literature. Active operations will be conducted from these quarters. A finance committee consisting of W. H. Taylor, W. H. Weeden and D. Diande was appointed to secure the finances of war. The committee is to be enlarged so as to include members from all portions of the county. Sufficient funds are to be raised to meet all demands of a spirited campaign, the most complete ever conducted in the county.

D. E. O'Keefe was chosen publicity manager of the campaign. He is to furnish all news to the county and city papers. The publicity is to be widespread.

Branch quarters are to be established in every town in the county to the end that the voters will be reached and the gospel of Rolphism preached in every section.

Mayor Rolph is to spend August first in the county with a mass meeting at San Mateo in the evening. Luncheon will be served at Redwood City. The various Rolph Clubs will hold gatherings in every city and town that will be addressed by the candidate for governor. It will be a gala day and the committee is working to make it a big bang for Rolph who will be at his best on that day.

Fire Burns Cabins At Sanatorium

Quick Response of Local Fire Department Saves Much Property Yesterday

Two of the small outside cabins used for patients at the Canyon Sanatorium on Canyon road were destroyed in a fire at noon yesterday. The fire is thought to have originated in some dry grass and spread into the part of the property occupied by a large number of small cabins used by patients of the hospitals.

Two of the cabins were burning by the time that firemen from here could reach the hospital. The spread of the fire to other cabins was prevented by the prompt action of the firemen. Several trees surrounding the burned cabins were also destroyed by the flames.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT PLANS NOW ABANDONED

TACOMA, Wash., July 16 (UP)—It was believed by aviation officials here today that final hopes for Harold Bromley's non-stop flight to Tokyo would be abandoned.

The main reason for the trip being abandoned, it was reported, was the necessity for more speed than the plane is capable of. After a test flight today, a check of the air-speed indicator showed an average of 84.26 miles per hour. This speed is insufficient to enable the plane to make the trip, officials said, as it would be impossible to carry enough gasoline.

The flight is now being held up pending location of a suitable refueling site along the Alaskan coast. It was thought that Unalak Bay would probably be chosen, after a conference of aviation authorities and Alaskan flyers today.

TRUCK DRIVER JAILED ON BAD CHECK CHARGE

LOCAL SERVICE CLUB HEARS OF CITY PLANS

Gardiner S. Rogers of United States Chamber of Commerce Gives Talk on Development of City Planning Idea Throughout America

Members of the Redwood City Kiwanis club were given an interesting talk on city planning Wednesday noon by Gardiner S. Rogers, assistant manager of the civic development department of the United States Chamber of Commerce. The speaker is spending a short time in California as an instructor in the Stanford summer school for commercial secretaries, and as the address here will be the only one he will give while here the club had as its guests members of the boards of supervisors of this county and Santa Clara county, members of the city councils, chambers of commerce, planning commissions of this and surrounding cities and members of the San Mateo County Chamber of Commerce.

The chairman of the meeting was Henry Witte, president of the Redwood City Planning commission. The address by Rogers was as follows:

"Too frequently we consider municipal business without first looking at it from the economical standpoint. Economy is an important factor in the future development of business and industry. Some years ago we did not have so much competition as we have today. Today we have competition between ice, water, power, gas, electricity etc.

In advertising today we find that the quality and color the certain type of advertising for instance, the Spanish and Mission Styles in dwellings and we should keep along those lines and not try to bring in something new."

Mr. Rogers further stated that Parks and recreational facilities should be an important factor in city planning. There should be numerous parks throughout the city so that it is not necessary for children to go far from their homes to the parks and play grounds.

There should be a general committee appointed from the communities embracing the territory from San Francisco to Palo Alto to take up all matters of importance that will concern these communities in the next ten years. The findings of this committee will be presented to the local clubs.

By having a bond election covering the improvements in all parts of the city for the ten years you will not only gain the approval of the entire community but by spending 1-10 each year it will equalize the yearly expenditures of money in these developments.

The following questions were asked: planning? by Supervisor T. L. Hickey.

"There are just a few counties in the U. S. that are outstanding in the city planning work; Los Angeles County, West County, N. Y.; Milwaukee County, Minn.; probably Detroit and a county in South Carolina. These places have elaborate written reports and you can probably get a copy from them. If you send to Washington, D. C. they will mail you a report.

How should the rural district be preserved? Rural districts can be preserved by zoning. Milwaukee has zoned all of her counties outside of the city limits as residential districts. This will probably have to be changed in future years as they do not know what industry will be brought in, but this is the only way they can preserve the residential districts at present.

Among the official guests at the luncheon were Supervisors Rosalie M. Brown, San Mateo, T. L. Hickey, South San Francisco, Manuel Francis, Half Moon Bay, and John W. Poole, Redwood City; Supervisor Al Hubbard, San Jose; Supervisor Joe McKinnon, Santa Clara county; Robert B. Chandler of San Jose, County Surveyor of Santa Clara county; Mrs. Geo. C. Bigler, Burlingame City Planning commission; Mayor W. H. Weeden, Menlo Park; J. H. Sullivan, Dr. Daniel B. Blake, and F. B. Whipple, members of Menlo Park Planning Commission; Mayor C. L. Jordan, Belmont; Claude Sorensen, San Carlos Planning Commission; D. A. Mendenhall, president Palo Alto Chamber of Commerce; Frank G. Hoge, and C. M. Simons, chamber of commerce, Palo Alto; Arthur B. Clink, Wilson Ellis, and C. H. Judson, members of Palo Alto Planning Commission; Fletcher Byxbee, city engineer of Palo Alto; Councilman George W. Mosher of Palo Alto; Edward M. Chinese Editor Warns Students

PEIPING, July 16.—Ignominious defeat of the Chinese track and field team at the Far Eastern Olympic games in Tokyo has aroused the deep concern of the editor of the Ta Kung Pao, the most influential Chinese newspaper in the north.

"Let no youth in the country minimize or belittle this athletic defeat," the editor writes. "As we have said on more than one occasion, physical development has an important bearing on mental and moral development. When of sports it indicates that there is something wrong with the intellectual development of its people."

"Apart from the athletic inferiority of our students, is there anything in which they excel the students of other countries? How their scientific or literary progress and achievements? Without taking much trouble to inquire, we return an emphatic 'No.'"

"Indeed, it seems to us that the specialty of our students lies in broadcasting long manifestoes against any president or principal who happens to incur their wrath and indulging in other forms of illegitimate agitation. In this, they easily win the championship of the student world."

The editor ventures the opinion that there has been sad deterioration among Chinese students during the decade since 1910, when there was a thirst for new learning. He urges the students to recognize their prevailing weaknesses, and hasten to correct them.

The Plymouth Guild of the First Congregational church will hold a picnic supper tomorrow at 6 o'clock at the home of Mrs. T. W. Wilson in Oak Knoll. All members of the church and their families are invited.

J. J. Millerick of Sonoma, who will be arena director, is known throughout the state for his managerial ability. Millerick will ship his entire stock of bucking horses to Redwood City immediately following the Salinas Rodeo. His string of bucking broncos is one of the largest and finest in the state.

Practically all of the cowboys and stock from Butchertown in San Francisco will be in Redwood City to compete with other professional riders for the cash and emblematic trophies offered.

Elect Rolph Governor

Mayor Rolph has always been the consistent friend of San Mateo county during his long term as the chief executive of our neighboring county. He knows our wants, is acquainted with our needs, and if elected governor will be in a position to bestow favors on his home county. The people of this section appreciate what he has done for it and will give him a tremendous vote on August 26.

One is struck with the all-embracing qualifications of Mayor James Rolph Jr., of San Francisco.

Rolph unquestionably stands heads and shoulders over the field of candidates, not because he has been Mayor of a great city in California for nearly twenty years, which in itself makes him the outstanding figure in the gubernatorial election, but principally because of his direct intimate knowledge of the needs and problems facing the people of California.

Perhaps no other candidate in the past several generations has entered the lists for the governorship so impenetrably armed with facts about California, its farming, its commerce, its employments and its sectional needs as has Rolph.

There is no section of the state of California that Rolph has not visited many times, some times many times in a year, during the past twenty years. Not only have these contacts been made as an important public official but as a business man, as a farmer, as an employee and employer.

Himself the owner of a 4,000-acre ranch in San Mateo county raising crops of grains and fruits, Rolph has taken a keen personal interest in farming and farmers. There is no section of California wherein agriculture is a chief activity that Rolph has not visited carefully checking notes, quietly taking data for both personal and the public interest.

He has been the guest at hundreds of county fairs, farmers' institutes and has spoken to thousands of agriculturists, ranchers, vinyardists and growers of every kind, individually and collectively.

Through his knowledge of the shipping business he has come in direct contact with every growing and producing industry in every section of California, from the snow-flecked peaks of the north to the broad sunny valleys of the southland. His hand has been in every industry and his voice has been lifted countless times in the conferences of the state's industrial leaders.

His interests, personal and official, have taken him to factory and farm, north and south, east and west, to village and city all around the state.

In legislative experience he ranks second to none in California. To preside over the activities of a metropolis of the calibre of the city of San Francisco for nearly a decade, produces in itself a remarkable executive, familiar with every institution in the city, town and state government.

Mayor Rolph is logically everybody's candidate in every part of California, beloved in the north as well as the south, encompassing within his vast circle of friends the great majority of those living within the boundary lines of the entire state of California.

Judge Urges New Bankruptcy Laws

Judge William Clark of the United States District Court, Newark, New Jersey, believes that one of the greatest drains on American business is the bankruptcy situation. In an interview in The American Magazine, Judge Clark points out that in 1929 there were 57,280 failures which cost $800,000,000. This amount, he says was practically a total loss. He adds that three-fourths of the failures could have been prevented.

Our bankruptcy laws, continues the Judge, permit us to help those who have failed for reasons not of their own fault. But the class is comparatively small, and he believes that the debts of those who fail through inefficiency or the willful diversion of funds for speculation or extravagance should not be canceled. "We must prevent inefficient and unethical men from getting back into business, making it possible for them to 'try their luck' again as many do now," says Clark. "In England the business man who does not keep proper books is regarded as a criminal. If he goes bankrupt he cannot be absolved of his debts. He is barred from the world of commerce until he makes restitution."

Judge Clark, in his New Jersey court, is trying to formulate new principles for bankruptcy proceedings. His methods are being studied by the Department of Commerce, the Yale Law School and other economic bodies. He hopes for a thorough revision of the bankruptcy act.

Long Years of Labor

With the passing of Henry Steinberger, Redwood City loses a citizen whose work for the public good has known no stint. For years Mr. Steinberger's interest has been in our public school system, and a large part of his time for the past 27 years has been devoted to the improvement of that system.

Henry Steinberger was elected a trustee of the Redwood City elementary school district, when Redwood City was a town of less than three thousand inhabitants, and when the educational needs of the town were cared for by a single school building, the old grammar school which stood where the Sequoia Theatre is now. The one building housed both grammar and high school, and even then some rooms were unoccupied.

From this beginning he saw the school system of Redwood City grow to its present proportions, and in this growth he played an important role. For 27 years Henry Steinberger was clerk of the board of trustees of this school district and to that work he devoted his time and energy, and in the schools of Redwood City he found his pride.

Mr. Steinberger was a man who had endeared himself to all who knew him, and in his passing leaves a place in the community which it will be hard to fill. The sympathy of the community goes to his widow and family in their bereavement.

The Senate Session

The mothers, fathers and all peace-loving people of the United States have their eyes riveted on Washington and praying that the senate will adopt the London Naval Treaty now before that body. The passage of the peace pact will be a step in the right direction. It will be the starting point towards permanent peace among the great nations of the earth. As years go by these nations will come closer and in time will outlaw war.

Those of us who went through the late war know its horrors and the misery and sorrows it has wrought. Anything that will stop the repetition of these horrors should be encouraged. This peace treaty, if signed, is certain to be the beginning of an understanding between all the major countries of the world and will result in permanent agreements looking to the elimination of war. Should the senate fail to adopt the treaty a backward step will be taken and perhaps it will be years before any further steps will be taken in the movement to stay the ravages of war.

President Hoover is doing all that is humanly possible to have the pact adopted. He knows what war means for he has been through it and is aware of its disaster. He is ably assisted by Senator Shortridge of this state. Both deserve the commendation of all peace-loving people. This great humanitarian cause ought to have the support of every man and woman in the country.

It has been said by the Jingo press that the United States is getting the worst of it in the agreement. Assuming this to be so who can better afford to make a sacrifice for the great cause of humanity than this country with all its wealth and prestige?

The next war will be a war of elimination. With modern airplanes, poisonous gases, whole nations may be wiped out in a short time. The white race could be destroyed in a month. War must be eliminated. Something must be done. America is taking a lead in the movement. Hoover has fostered it. Other great men of the world are encouraging it. It will be sad commentary, indeed, if our big men of the senate fail to support the treaty. If it is adopted every senator who votes for it will have the prayers of every peace-loving citizen of the country.

Up-to-date New Homes

There is a pick-up in building contracts indicated by the Department of Commerce reports, and the indications are that small dwellings are on the way back to popularity. But the new building are not much like those of a quarter of a century ago, as new homes are conforming to modern methods of architecture, which represents something more than "just a notion" on the part of the owner. Height above grade, portion of basement excavated, thickness of foundation, roof overhangs, and insulation of the roof preferably with cane board, and with the walls fortified against cold weather and excessive heat in the same way; room sizes, breadth of stair treads, complete electrical fixtures and the latest devices in plumbing, with a built-in garage, constitute some of the points of the new home of 1930.

The Tobacco Tax

A Kentucky congressman says that "now is the time to act in behalf of the tobacco growers and all other farmers." It has a fine jingle to reduce the tax on tobacco by early action of Congress next December. He makes a strong appeal in behalf of the aid that would be furnished to farmers and he enlarges on the savings that would be effective in behalf of the consumers who smoke and chew tobacco. This is a sad case in which a great statesman mentions all of the soldiers and ignores the General Tobacco Trust, whom history shows takes care of all the little details of industry like raking in a surplus tax money.

General Taxes Are Small Part Of County Work

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 17.—Collecting general taxes is only a small part of the financial transactions of California counties these days.

Last year the 58 counties of the state handled receipts totaling more than a third of a billion dollars, of which taxes represented $105,038,589. San Mateo county collected a grand total of $4,467,805 from nearly a score of different sources during the 12-month period.

These figures were disclosed in a compilation by State Controller Ray L. Riley, who said the total collections by all counties of the state was $356,838,192.42.

It Seems to Me, by Haywood Brown

California is in grave danger of earning membership in the Association of Backward States and of joining Massachusetts and the other communities where a special interpretation is placed upon the law when radicals are tried.

The decision of the California Supreme Court in reviewing the case of Mooney and Billings is among the most extraordinary documents ever handed down from an American bench. The court does not say in so many words that these men are guilty. It merely affirms that they had a fair trial. And the prosecution's case rested upon perjured testimony.

Both judge and jury who sat at the original trial have changed their minds since the decision was reached and sentence imposed. They were there and the Supreme Court was not, which really makes a difference. Judges must learn to take into account the spirit of a trial as well as its technicalities. The observance of all outward proprieties is not enough to constitute an impartial trial. The temper of the community, the prejudice and pressure which came from the deed, Justice Holmes took just such factors into account in his famous dissent in the Frank case.

THE FRUIT OF HATRED.

There can be no question that Mooney and Billings were not in the good graces of conservative California when they stood trial for their lives. Admittedly they were rebels against the existing order and agitators of a violent type. California was anxious for a conviction. It didn't really matter to an embittered citizenry whether or not these two had bombed the preparedness parade. The feeling was that whether this accusation held or failed Mooney and Billings were of the type and group from whom such things might be expected.

It has always been difficult to obtain fair trials for rebels or agitators in time of stress. Communities are very prone to punish minority leaders for what they might do rather than what they did. Courts of appeal are supposed to check this tendency and to keep decisions in line with actual occurrences rather than panicky surmise.

But in California we find a complete reversal of this status. There the jury and the trial judge are willing to admit that in the heat of passion they were deceived by false evidence. At the end of thirteen years they are eager to make such poor atonement as can be made through the medium of an immediate pardon. By now their heat has cooled and they see with a clearer and a saner eye.

SOME ONE JUST AS GOOD.
It is the high court, the Supreme Court of California, which behaves as if the war were still with us and all opponents of preparedness properly suspects. For, upon analysis, the decision of the court that Billings received a fair trial and should not be pardoned rests upon the surprising statement that, even if he didn't plant the bomb, it must have been done by some person or persons of the same general stripe. Indeed, the court complains that if he were not actually guilty he might at least have some information or suspicion as to the perpetrators of the opinion that somebody must be punished for the crime and that Billings would do as a surrogate until the actual culprit can be found. And, even if the bomber is never identified, Billings in jail will serve as a warning to murderous agitators.

I wonder if the august judges of the California tribunal realize how much they have done to bring our legal institutions into disrepute. Let no man from that State hereafter prate of prohibition and the manner in which Volstead violations breed disrespect for America's organic law. The Supreme Court of California has betrayed the entire spirit of justice. It has advanced the rank heresy upon which lynching flourishes. Leaders of mobs often realize, after the event, that they may have made a mistake as to the individual in dealing out summary execution, and their excuse has always been, "Well, maybe we didn't get the right man, but at least we got a bad one." And this is the doctrine to which the Supreme Court of California gives approval by its decision. Moreover, one other pertinent question remains to be asked:—Bad for whom?

AND ALSO NEW YORK STATE

In consigning California to the low estate of Massachusetts and Alabama it is well not to lose sight of the fact that the judicial processes of New York are also under a cloud. No intelligent person can reasonably contend that the sentences imposed upon Minor and Foster, the Communists, are in line with the punishments usually meted out to those who try to parade when the police say "No." If some patriotic organization had refused the command to halt we know that a small fine or a reprimand would have been the limit of the penalty.

I don't believe more than ninety per cent of what Communists say, and they themselves believe only about fifty per cent of their public propaganda. And yet I do think they are telling the plain truth when they say that many savage penalties imposed upon Communist leaders in this country have been punishments imposed because of the economic beliefs of the defendants and not because of their actions.

I have said one certain true thing in the past, and, as far as I can see, it is still necessary to keep on repeating it. I do not want to see the Communist party in America grow in numbers and power. It is not numerous now, and it is not powerful. Its leadership is not intelligent, but it is receiving valuable aid from fat-headed American conservatives. The only immediate hope of American Communists lies in receiving cruel, unfair and unusual penalties at the hands of the courts.

Instead of putting Communists in jail on any easy pretext we should put upon the bench judges sufficiently wise to comprehend that no case was ever checked by providing it with an army of martyrs.

Some of the miscellaneous sources of this revenue, and the amounts collected by all counties are as follows:

Licenses and permits, $17,621.35; fines and penalties, $1,683,151.48; privileges, $432,083.49; rents, $133,583.49; interest receipts, $3,134,345.40; subventions and grants, $38,356,478.98; gifts, donations, etc., $29,669.04; fees $3,336,332.29; special service rendered, $2,492,704.26; sale of bonds, $18,619,567.43; sale of property, $1,014,146.34; miscellaneous, $3,412,866.09; trust funds and accounts, $16,374,470.39; agency transactions—for state, $11,548,675.34; for districts, $94,877,926.40, and for municipalities $55,121,890.57.

Los Angeles shows the greatest receipts of any one county in California, with a total of $178,441,493.83. San Francisco is next with $59,439,493.47, and Alameda county third, with $27,814,205.90.

Alpine county, smallest county in the state, also showed the lowest total receipts with $55,881.14.

Carroll and Cast of Vanities Appear in Court After Raid

It was a festive occasion in Jefferson Market court, New York City, when Earl Carroll, producer, and the eight beauties of his cast of Vanities appeared to answer charges of presenting an obscene performance. Case was postponed to permit a study of the complaint. The producer is seen above (center) with his cast of beauties as they appeared in court.

The End of Wynne-Eaton's Contemplated Ocean Flight

When he crashed while taking off from St. Johns, N. F., for Harbor Grace, where he planned to continue on to Dublin or London via the Atlantic, Maj. C. S. SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 17.—

"Till the Trout of the Sierras Grow Cold" might be the title of this incident. At Downville, Sierra county, the chef of the leading hotel cooked a mess of fresh-caught mountain trout to a rich crispness, each with a strip of brown bacon, in honor of Mayor James Rolph, Jr. Breakfast hour came and went. The trout got cold, and still no candidate had arrived. An hour later Rolph and party arrived. In glowing terms they praised the trout, not one of them knowing the fish had to be warmed over.

Buron Pitts is no preacher, but he didn't turn down an offer to occupy the pulpit to deliver an address. It was at the First Baptist church of Riverside. Billed to speak on "Law Enforcement," Pitts took advantage of the opportunity to take a few jabs at Governor Young.

The only negro on the ballot for a major state office is August J. Johnson of Los Angeles, who is seeking the Republican nomination for state treasurer. Because of the similarity in their names, State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, candidate for re-election, has obtained permission to have "No. 1" placed before his name on the ballot. Assembly Frederick M. Roberts, also colored, is a candidate for re-election in the 2nd district, Los Angeles. He is opposed by a woman, Bessie E. Prentice.

A few one-minute campaign speeches by various candidates: Governor Young: "Under our reorganization program in California, administrative costs, for the first time in many years, have been held to a lower percentage of increase than population."

Buron Pitts: "California has been studying the water question since 1876. Courage at Sacramento, a show of leadership would have seen to it that a co-ordinate plan of water conservation would have been submitted to the people on this year's ballot."

James Rolph, Jr.: "Practical marketing experts in the state administration could solve to a great extent the overproduction problem faced by California farmers. It

TIPSY TRAFFIC SIGNAL THIS ONE GOT AWAY

NEW YORK, July 17.— One of the worst traffic snarls of the year occurred when the signal light system went out of order throughout upper New York last night, with red and green lights flashing simultaneously at all four intersections for almost three hours. Tardi, it is said, had been a muscle man for a gambling and bootlegging syndicate whose leaders were said to have been sore at Lingle.

ONLY ONE WEEK LEFT FOR ELECTION REGISTRATION

Registration of Voters Still Below Normal as Time Nears
For Closing of Rolls for Primary Elections
To Take Place in August

Saturday, July 26, just a week from tomorrow, is the last day on which registrations of voters will be received for the primary election in August. Although efforts have been made for some time by County Clerk Elizabeth M. Kneese and deputy registrars throughout the county registration is still far below what it should be. This is strange, too, as the August primary election will be one of utmost importance. Practically all county officers will be up for reelection, and many of these are being opposed.

In addition to the county officers to be elected candidates for state officers from the governor down, are to be selected by both parties.

In order that any who have not done so may register with the least possible inconvenience, there is published herewith a complete list of places in the county where registrations will be received. These will be received until a late hour on the final day of registration.

Farm Aid Plan Asked of Hoover By Rep. Leaders

Demand of West for Relief Is

and Hyde

By PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The familiar western cry for the equalization of farm relief was being heard in the capitol and at the White House.

Within the last 24 hours, President Hoover has been advised by two administration farm leaders—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and Senator Capper of Kansas—that the situation caused by decline in wheat prices has aroused demands for the plan twice vetoed by former President Coolidge.

If present conditions continue, the equalization fee undoubtedly will be revived in the December session of congress, "Capper said. "There also is much discussion in the west about the Debuture Plan."

Other influential Republican senators are predicting privately that the Debuture Plan will be resurrected. Secretary Hyde, who has just returned from a western trip did not mention the Debuture, to which Hoover and he have strong objections, but said he heard much talk about reviving the Equalization fee.

It was pointed out, however, that even if the proposal gathers the momentum necessary to carry it into the next Congress, there is no

ECONOMY IN BUYING TO REDUCE SCHOOL COSTS

Scientifically Applied Economy To Reduce Cost To People
Without Reducing School Standards Throughout California, Is Plan

By ELWOOD SQUIRES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 17.—California's educational system—the most expensive single item in government, is beginning to show the effects of scientifically applied economy.

Development of education went ahead by leaps and bounds in the years following the World War. Huge sums in bond issues were voted; salaries and operating expenses increased.

Then came the inevitable reaction and sorely pressed taxpayers looked for means to curtail expenditures. Repudiation of bond issues was impossible; cutting of salaries is always a difficult expedient; and the matter finally narrowed down to decrease operating expense.

The 1927 legislature enacted a law providing for standardization and centralized purchase of school supplies. Now the law has been in operation for three years and the state department of education has taken stock of results.

Astonishing savings in the majority of counties has resulted, the department report states. Increases in cost of supplies per pupil are noted, but in most cases can be laid to normal expansion of the educational system.

In San Mateo county, the department said, supplies for the year preceding the act's passage cost $3.28 per pupil. For the year following, the cost was $3.48 a pupil.

"Although the difference, where there are decreases, appears slight," declared Sam Cohn, deputy superintendent of public instruction, and author of the standardization law, "it means savings to the taxpayers. This resume only shows the operation of the plan for the first year following its adoption. We fully expect a constantly growing saving to the public as the idea progresses."

Specifications for all items used in public elementary schools were adopted and set as standards. When schools wish to purchase supplies they signify the grades of merchandise wanted and the total orders in a particular class are offered to bidders with positive specifications as well as definite quantities.

Eventually it is hoped to make the purchase system a highly centralized proposition in each county, Cohn said.

"When the supply situation is

Menlo Exchange Club Becomes Menlo Park Service Club

The Menlo Park Exchange Club that has been in existence here for over three years, abandoned its charter on July 6, and instead the Menlo Park Service Club has been established with the same efficient officers that guided the destiny of the old organization. The new club stands for a better and greater Menlo Park. A big drive is to be made for membership and inducements are to be offered for membership up to August 13. The new organization promises to be a powerful agency for good in the community. It should be encouraged.

These Chinese Operators Have Long Records

THREE of the veteran operators of the Chinatown telephone exchange of San Francisco were recently honored for their long service by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. They are Mrs. Rose Mock, Mrs. Grace Wong, and Mrs. Nellie Jow. Mrs. Wong has had twenty years of service, and Mrs. Jow has been on duty for fifteen years, and Mrs. Mock for ten, and they have been awarded service emblems corresponding to their length of service.

Mrs. Wong is reputed to know everybody in the Chinese colony of San Francisco, and since many of the customers who use the Chinese telephone exchange are not very adept with Arabic numerals, they ask Mrs. Wong for their calls by name instead of by number, and Mrs. Wong immediately connects them. To her, telephone numbers are just a formality required by the telephone company.

It so happens that the manager of the exchange, Mr. Loo Kern, is only twenty-three years old and he has recently taken the place of his father, Loo Kum Shu, who was founder and manager of the Chinatown exchange, and served for thirty-two years in that capacity. His son was master of ceremonies at the presentation of the service emblems.

Picnic In Portola Park A Great Success

The joint picnic by the Native Daughters and Native Sons of Menlo Park in the New Portola Park last Sunday was an unqualified success. It was a real old time gathering. Every one was happy and all enjoyed the day's outing in one of the most beautiful spots on the peninsula. Mayor Rolph was unable to be present but was ably represented by Dr. Toner, supervisor of San Francisco. The doctor delivered a splendid speech after his introduction by Mayor Weeden. He told of the good work done by the mayor for San Mateo county. He was the friend of the peninsula and would continue to be so when he was installed at Sacramento.

The Morey family baseball nine won the trophy donated by Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kneese by winning a close ball game from the Chervollets of Palo Alto. The Menlo Park Firemen beat a picked nine for the cup presented by Mrs. Grace Cooper, the county treasurer. The married men, head by Foster Anderson, of the Highway Garage, proved their stamina by pulling the single men all around the landscape in a tug of war. Among the married valiants were Jack Bracesco, C. T. Maloney, Foster Andrews, J. Borghini, Eddie Derry, Frank Derry and Frank W. Johnson. The winners were awarded the cup presented by Sheriff Jim McGrath. The horseshoe tournament was won by a San Francisco visitor, Mr. Edwards. The second, close behind the winner, was Jack Bracesco, nephew of the plumbing Jack. The cup given the winner was presented by Dr. McGovern, the county coroner. The various committees did their work well and to these committees the success of the picnic is due. The Parlor are planning to give another picnic next year.

Russian Trade to Pacific Coast Cities Predicted

By CARROLL KENWORTHY (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, July 16 (UP)—A modernized Siberia with thriving outlets on the Pacific Coast and close trade contacts with west coast ports of the United States is foreshadowed by Soviet Russian trade representatives in this country.

Plans for the industrialized Asiatic Russian state are contained in "The Economic Review of the Soviet Union," organ of the official Soviet trade representatives here. This publication reveals that plans are made for an expenditure of $380,000,000 in the area. Ports are to be expanded, factories erected, mines, forests and fisheries developed and 800,000 workers transported into the section to speed its growth.

The United States will be linked with this modernization project through Soviet trade offices which have been established in Seattle, Washington, prominent north-west port. Large purchases of industrial machinery already have been made there and the opening of a direct shipping service to Vladivostok is being planned.

Developments of such trans-Pacific Russo-American trade as is forecast would be a new step in the already fast-growing commerce of the two nations. In 1929 this amounted to more than $100,000,000. This figure will be doubled in 1930, if trade continues at the rate developed during the first few months.

The economic review points out that Vladivostok, which will be the principal port for the Pacific commerce, is closer by 750 miles to Seattle than to Moscow. "This fact is sufficient in itself to justify direct import trade for the Far East via Vladivostok," it says. "The latter is the principal city of the Far Eastern region and has a population of 110,000. The turnover of its port is the largest of any Soviet port, having outstripped Leningrad, Novorossiysk and Odessa since the war."

The United States is expected to furnish machinery, tools, technicians, capital and certain food and textiles produced in Russia. Siberia, in turn, will provide such return exports as oil, metals, seafood, furs, lumber and coal. Foreign concessions may be opened similar to those in other parts of Russia.

A list of expenditures which Russia plans in the development of the area includes: for ports $20,000,000; agriculture, $30,000,000; various industries including steel mills, $150,000,000; fisheries, $21,000,000; forestry, $33,000,000; mining and oil wells, $40,000,000; textile mills $40,000,000; food factories, $9,000,000; marine and ship-building projects, $24,000,000; railways and electrification, $13,000,000.

"From this review of the program for industrial development of the Far Eastern Region during the next few years, it is evident," the review says, "that there is a large field in the Soviet Far East for sale of products from the western states, including various types of machinery, logging and saw mill equipment, fishing requisites, mining machinery and other equipment for industrialization of what is now practically an undeveloped region. To these industrial needs may be added various consumers' goods including foodstuffs to supply additional working populations."

Discussing the concessions which America may acquire, the review says: "Besides the considerable possibilities of a greater development of the export trade to the Soviet Far East from the Western States and of technical assistance, there is also an extensive field of the immediate investment of American capital through concession enterprises."

"Openings for concessions are available in the Far Eastern region in connection with exploitation of extensive forest area, which also implies the development and organization of industries using timber as a basic raw material. Gold mining, the construction of a cement factory, water supply and sewerage in Vladivostok and numerous other industries in process of development are available as concession openings."

Ports which are to be expanded include Vladivostok, those of Sakhalin Island, Kamchatka and the Amur River.

Work already is started on some of the projects and is expected to be completed under the Russian five-year economic plan.

.... Woodside

The county is macadamizing the old Tripp road along the foot of the mountains connecting the Kings Mountain road with the La Honda road. What a troop of ghostly memories are stirred into life by the noise of that tractor grading and leveling that historic by-way. This was once the Main street of Woodside. Here stood the log cabins of Ellis, Parkhurst and Tripp who were the first of the early settlers to see the profit to be made by turning their towering redwoods into building lumber. Here Dr. Tripp started the first store in what is now San Mateo county, the only store in fact to be found between San Francisco and Santa Clara. Along this road were to be found restaurant, dance hall and saloon in the hey-day of the lumbering era around this side of the ridge. And around this road grouped the primitive dwellings of a pioneer people. All this has long since fallen into decay, the only monument remaining of the old days being the store built at the junction of this road with the Kings Mountain road by Dr. Tripp in 1854. This building built of the native redwood still stands in excellent state of repair. Woodside's heritage from the past.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Dudley left on Friday. They will be at San Leandro for several weeks after which they expect to go up into Humboldt county.

SAN CARLOS BANDIT CONFESSES ROBBERY

Keilly Tells Officers That He Is Willing To Return To This County and Plead Guilty to Hold-up Charge; Being Held in Alameda County Jail

John Keilly, held in Oakland in connection with the robbery of the Oakland branch of the American Trust Company last October, made a full confession of his part in the robbery of the San Carlos branch of the Bank of America in February.

The confession was made Tuesday afternoon to Undersheriff Edward J. Farrell, and to Chief of Police Edward J. Wheeler of San Carlos. Keilly told the two officers that he is willing to return to this county and enter a plea of guilty to the robbery charge.

Keilly was identified on Monday by H. R. Laughlin, teller of the bank, when it was robbed. Laughlin was brought from the Yosemite Valley, where he was spending his vacation, in order that he might look at the man held in Oakland and tell whether or not he was implicated in the San Carlos robbery. Laughlin picked him out immediately as the one who had bound him and put him in the vault.

The robbery was staged by two men who escaped with $400. The other man implicated in the robbery is still believed to be at large. His identity was not disclosed by Keilly.

In the Oakland robbery, Keilly was accompanied by Albert DeCosta, who is already serving time for his part in the robbery.

$20,000 Auto Suit Follows Accident

Suit for $20,000 damages has been filed in the Superior court here by Leo Michelini, against G. Gonzales, a Michellini, against G. Gonzales. The suit is the result of an automobile accident which occurred near Belmont on May 25. It is claimed by the plaintiff that while riding in a car with D. J. Tonni the machine was struck by another car driven by Gonzales, and that as the result of the accident he received numerous cuts about the face that have left permanent scars.

Colma Rancher Warned Of Setting Out Fires

Setting a brush fire on the Robert Chase ranch near Colma resulted in a call down for Manuel Caruso, rancher, by County Fire Warden Bert Werder. The brush fire burned over four acres of land and was only extinguished after a hard fight by the Daly City fire department.

Werder went to Colma with the intention of arresting the person who set out the fire, but finally freed Caruso with a warning against setting fires without securing a permit.

Patient Sues For Alleged Remarks

As the result of statements made about him by attendants at the California Sanatorium at Belmont, Edwin P. Suit was filed in the Superior court of the county this week by Coppinger, who seeks $250,000 as damages for the loss of his position. He was formerly a patient at the Belmont institution.

EVERY THIRD MARRIAGE ENDS IN MARITAL RIFT

In This County Divorces Show A Drop During Last Year And Marriages Gain; Gin Marriage Law Held Cause Of Low Number of Annulments in State

By HOMER L. ROBERTS (United Press Staff Correspondent) SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 17.—Nearly one out of every three marriages in California ends in the divorce court.

This was disclosed here by the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, from marriages and divorce figures compiled by the United States Bureau of Commerce.

Last year, for example, there were 51,866 marriages performed in California as compared with 46,945 in 1928, an increase of 10.5 per cent. In 1916 there were 30,996 marriages.

During the same period there were 15,100 divorces granted in the state, as compared with 14,431 in 1928, representing an increase of 4.6 per cent.

San Mateo county showed a total of 120 divorces in 1929 as compared with 121 for the year 1928. Marriages numbered 885 for the year as compared with 812 for 1928. There were seven annulments.

The extremely small gain in annulments—from 1,441 in 1928 to 1,486 in 1929—was due, according to authorities, to California's new "gin marriage" act, which requires couples to give three days' notice of intention to wed, before they are issued marriage licenses.

Estimated population of California in 1929 was 4,679,000 and in 1928 was 4,556,000. On the basis of these estimates, the number of marriages per 1,000 of population was 11.1 in 1929 as against 10.3 in 1928.

Divorces on the other hand gained from 3.17 per 1,000 in 1928 to 3.23 in 1929.

Los Angeles headed the state in number of divorces, having 7,115 last year and 6,427 the year before. There were 724 annulments during the 12 month period. Alpine county showed a clean record of no marriages and no divorces for the two-years.

Jury Asks Trial For Duel Slayer

A coroner's jury in San Francisco this week recommended that Anton Anderson, Crockett fisherman, be tried for the death of Game Warden Allen Curry of San Francisco, and of Jack Burke, former game warden of this county. The two men were killed by Anderson in a gun duel on Anderson's boat, Ruth Rowland, off shore near South San Francisco.

The jury finding was that Anderson shot Burke and Curry in self defense, but recommended that he be tried because of insufficiency of the evidence to prove that the killings was in self defense.

That he struck Fitzpatrick with a leaf of an automobile spring after Fitzpatrick had beaten him severely, and to present a further attack.

TELEPHONE PLAYS BIG PART IN SANITARIUM

Telephone service plays an important part in the management of the great Battle Creek Sanitarium which started its career back in 1896 in a small two-story frame farmhouse and which now occupies, with various buildings, some thirty-five acres, having more than 1,200 doctors, nurses, clerks and other employees.

The telephone serves as the interconnecting link between these various parts of the plant. Thousands of calls are made over the sanitarium's telephone system, while a large number pass through the local exchange at Battle Creek. Approximately 1,000 toll calls are handled monthly, and as the guests of the sanitarium are from all parts of the United States, the majority of these calls are to far distant points. The telephone equipment includes 747 main stations, 114 extensions, 11 local trunks and 4 direct toll trunks. A corps of 12 operators are employed.
